

James Dickey Bio

James Dickey is CEO of JD Key Consulting and former Chairman of the Republican Party of Texas. In his current role at JD Key, James helps businesses and political organizations implement tools, processes and systems that create a path to sustainable growth. He has led multiple community and political organizations and founded or co-founded investment, insurance, technology, and consulting firms and served in executive roles for Citigroup and Kemper. James also serves as a Board member of C5 Youth Foundation of Texas, a charity that helps middle and high school students overcome adversity to reach their full potential.